

Before he died, my Uncle Ben taught me that with great power must also come great responsibility. That's why I became a super hero.

And judging by how my spider-sense is tingling--

--it's time to live up to that responsibility again!

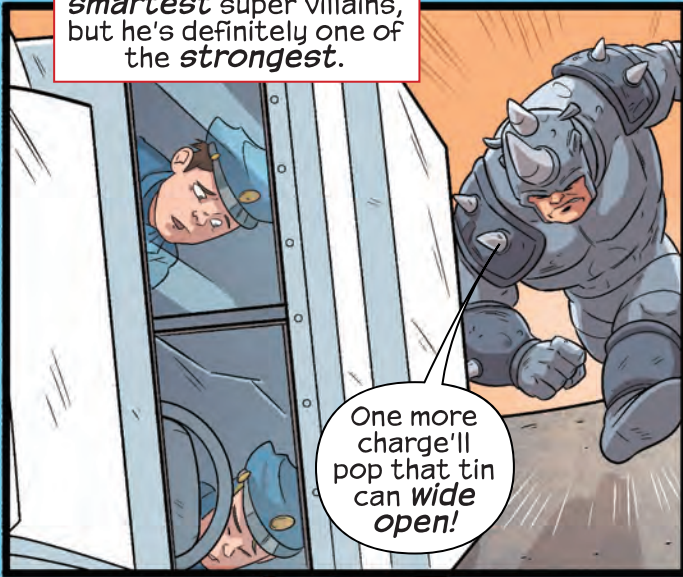

THOOOM!

You think an armored car can keep me away from that cash?

It's like busting open a piggy bank to the Rhino!

"SPIDERS EVERYWHERE!"

The Rhino isn't one of my smartest super villains, but he's definitely one of the strongest.

One more charge'll pop that tin can wide open!

Nothing can stop the Rhino!

THWIP
SLOOF

Well, nothing except tripping over his own feet.

SPLAATT!

Funny, I've never seen him do that before.

Thanks, Spider-Man!

Uh...you're welcome?
But I didn't really do anything.

Nope, that would be me!

SPIDER-GIRL
A.K.A. Anya Corazon.

Amazing what a little sticky webbing can do, huh?

Oh. Nice work.

Guess I'll have to go find some other crime to fight.

Spider-Girl beat me to the Rhino, but there's bound to be more than one super villain in town.

THE OBSERVATION GAME

HOW MANY DIFFERENCES CAN YOU FIND IN THE PICTURE BELOW?

Turn upside down to read answers.

In the top panel, Sandman is made of Atlantic sand.
In the bottom panel it's Pacific sand.
In the second panel, Sandman is humming to himself.

MANHATTAN'S
EAST SIDE.
The docks.

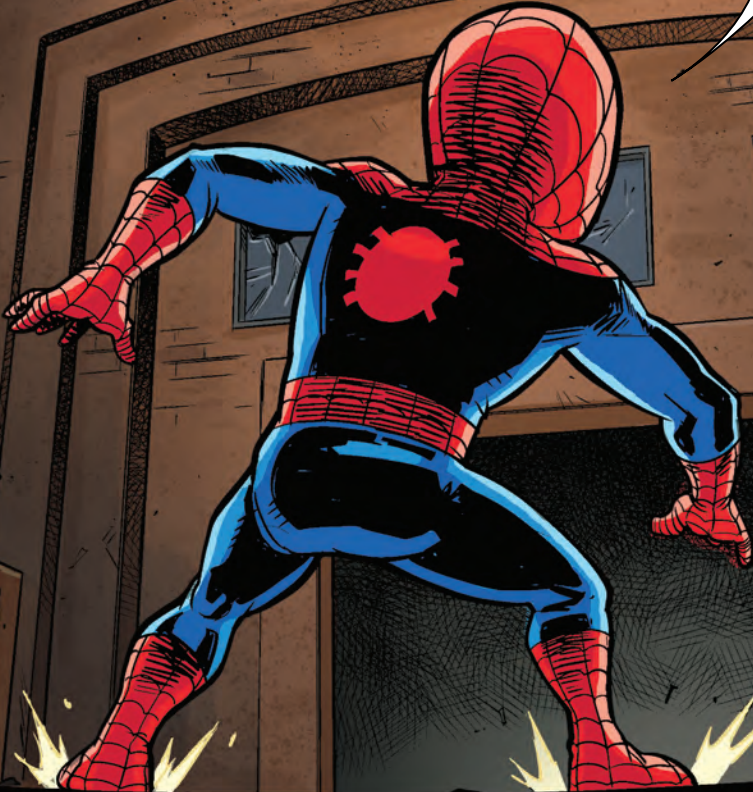

Yeah, this probably isn't a trap...

"THE MORE
THE MERRIER"

...just a distress signal tuned to my spider-sense... leading me straight to an abandoned warehouse by the docks.

Probably fine.

Hey, Pete!
This a trap?

Of course it's a trap.
How could this not be a trap?

I dunno about you guys, but I'm a little insulted. I mean, at least put in some effort.

Well, y'know, setting traps is hard.

Speaking of...

Welcome, Spider-Man.
We have been expecting you.

Oh no. I think it's a trap.
