

ANOTHER WORLD.
THE FAR FUTURE.

Tell me again, Father. Tell me about the Destined One.

It is time for you to sleep, child.

Pleeeeee, Father? Just once more? Tell me the story of how the Destined One came to our world!

Very well, but after this telling, you are going straight to sleep!

YAY!

The Destined One was born long, long ago, on a strange and distant world called Earth.

She was that planet's greatest hero. And they called her...

MS. MARVEL!

Foolish girl, you can never defeat Deathbringer! Surrender now or be destroyed!

You're joking, right?

"The Destined One was known far and wide on her world for her valor. Her fists were like boulders, her eyes like fire.

You sure you want to do this?

"Her spirit was fearless and her manner was bold.

Oh crap!

"Some say the Destined One could shrink out of her enemies' sight.

Huh?

"Some say she could grow to the size of a giant.

Over here, jerky!

You should have stayed out of Jersey City, homicidal goth guy.

"Noble she was in bearing, and solemn in spirit."

Oh, GROSS! It smells like a dead fish ate poop then threw it up! Please tell me you give up so we can get away from this stink.

Unnnh.

Deathbringer yields...

Thanks for the help, Ms. Marvel!

Don't mention it, Officer. All in day's--

Are you kidding me?

You gonna just walk away after that?!

Oh, no need to thank me. Saving lives is just--

Saving lives?! You trashed my store! What's wrong with you?

I was gonna help clean up, you don't have to yell at me!

"The Destined One was beloved and celebrated by all the people of her world."

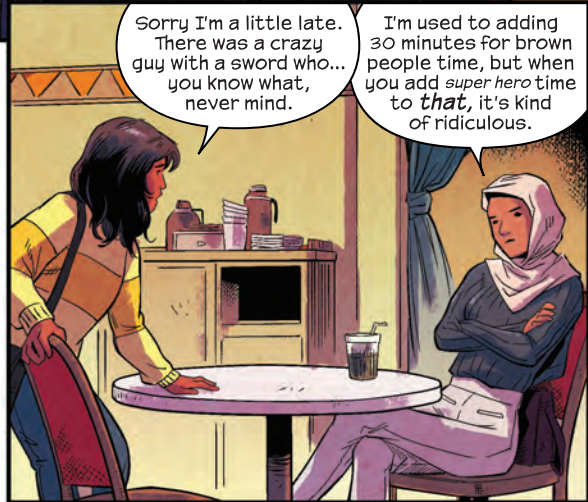

"And she was always a true and steadfast friend."

Nakia!
Where you at?

Over here.

Sorry I'm a little late. There was a crazy guy with a sword who... you know what, never mind.

I'm used to adding 30 minutes for brown people time, but when you add super hero time to that, it's kind of ridiculous.

Keep your voice down! I said I was sorry!

It's fine. I've been hate-watching the hipsters flocking to this new Lebanese juice bar.

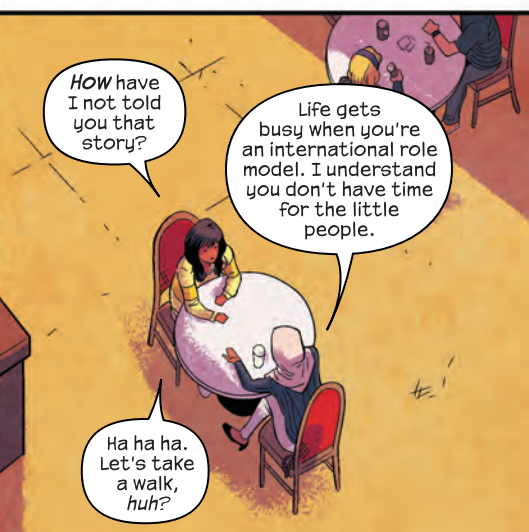

I feel like they just started building this place last week. Things are changing so fast downtown...

Uh-huh.

So this was supposed to be the day you finally tell me all about how you became...you know who.

How have I not told you that story?

Life gets busy when you're an international role model. I understand you don't have time for the little people.

Ha ha ha. Let's take a walk, huh?